PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

On February 17, 2014 at approximately 5:30pm, a juvenile female walked to a trash dumpster located in the "Ridgewood at Pine Island Ridge" development (in the area of the 9100 block of SW 23rd St). As she was throwing out her trash, she was approached by a male subject who claimed to be a law enforcement officer. The male subject asked the juvenile female several questions like "Do a lot of children live in the area?", "Do you live alone?", and "Is there a lot of crime in the area?" The female walked away and did not observe where the male subject went after questioning her.

The subject is described as a Hispanic male, around 35 years of age, with thinning medium toned hair. He had a muscular build, with crooked yellow teeth, and short "stubble" facial hair. He was wearing a red polo-type shirt with a gold badge and black writing embroidered on it. He was driving a newer model gray four-door vehicle with gray interior, and silver accents around the windows, which were lightly tinted. A "facial composite" picture of the subject is below.
